To the Editor of The Tribune: The other day, I was rejoiced to see the following petition to the Common Council of New-York, prepared by an individual, who did not know any one of the Colt family, even by eight, and who received no hint or suggestion whatever, except from

To the Common Council of the City of New-York : It is stated that $1,000 has been deposited in the City Treasury, by Mr. Hart, the Sheriff; being money sent to him by unknown hands, with the hope of saving John C. Colt from violent death. We would, most respectfully, call your attention to a few considerations in connection with this circumstance. In the first place, it must be obvious to all, that this money was bestowed by some person, or persons, who took a deep interest in the fate of that wretched man; and secondly, whatever legal construction may be put upon the act, every humane men will feel that it was creditable to the heart of the giver-and that he would himself give ten times as much if it could avail to save friend, or relative, under circumstances so dreadful. In this view of the case, ought the public to keep that money? Have they a right to keep it? Do not humanity and justice alike point to the orphan child, as the proper recipient of this bounty from his father's friend? Individuals and communities become immortal by acts of kindness. Such deeds excite spontaneous reverence in the minds of men, and the blessing of God rests upon them.

In the present state of society the stern require ments of justice often compel us to check the impulses of humanity; but there is no such impediment in this case. The child is innocent, and mest unfortunate. A stigma will rest upon him, guiltless as he is; and he has been deprived in a fearful manner, of the hand that should have protected his childhood, and guided his youth.

Under these affecting circumstances, we respectfully, and most earnestly, pray that the city of New-York will place this $1,000 at interest for the benefit of the infant son of John C. Colt. M. L. We have signed a petition to the Common Council that half of the $1,000 be given to the child of Colt, and the remainder to the widow of Samuel Adams. We are willing the City should be kind to the child of Colt, but we think there are others more unfortunate in this matter than that child. The conduct of the felon in seducing Caroline M. Henshaw, living with her for months after he must have known that her hopes in life were blighted forever and her shame must soon be made manifest, and refusing her the miserable re paration of a marriage ceremony till after his hope of pardon were utterly dissipated, convinces us that the child has lost nothing by the punishment which has overtaken the father. Mousaton c Railroad. To the Editor of The Tribune:

Allow me, Mr. Editor, to commend the House tonic Railroad route to Western travelers. It is emphatically the winter route. The arrangement takes passengers from New-York at 7 o'clock in the morning and leaves them at Albany at 9 the same evening. I came down this way, and but for the storm which drove us into Norwalk, we should have been in New-York before 8 o'clock in the evening. Capt. BROOKS of the Nimrod, however, had the precaution to prefer a snug harbor to a most perilous route upon the Sound. Among the passengers who came by the Housatonic route y, were the Hon. MILLARD FILLMORE and

Hon. JOHN C. CLARK, of the House of Representatives, and two of New-York's ablest and most faithful Representatives.

The following letter did not reach us in time for yes terday's paper: Things in Philadelphia.

Correspondence of The New-York PHILADELPHIA, November 30, 1842. The trial of Milton J. Alexander for the murder of Noah Lougee, commenced before the Court of General Sessions Judge Barton presiding, on Monday last, and has attracted much a tention, not only from the morbid excitement, ordinarily created by a tri-linvolving human life, but as we from many circumstances of great interest connected with this particular case. The Court Room is crowded to a grea.er excess than has ever before been witnessed, its ave nues being completely blocked up, so as to render egress of ingress a matter attended with some personal hazard. Many ladies, mistaking the true nature of female sensibilities, b. v graced the trial by their presence; adding, no doubt, to the mental agony of the prisoner, but conferring, in turn, no good that I can perceive. Messrs, G. M. Dallas, W. B. Reed and H. M. Phillips ranking among the most eminen of the profession for l-gal and forensic attainments, hav been engaged as Alexander's counsel; in addition to whom the Hon. John Pope of Kentucky has consented, in compliance with the wish of the prisoner's tamily, who are re sidents of that State, to employ his powerful abilities and eloquence in behalf of his countryman. In the course of an argument yesterday, involving the principle whether or no the Commonwealth possesses the right to inquire into a juror's cruples of belief he made a very effective address denying the right, and was listened to with the most marked denying the right, and was istened to with the most marked antention. Public feeling is somewhat excited by the circumstance of two of the jurors being men possessing bulittle regard for law or morals, it their own lives a ctake, as the criterion of their principles; yet 1 am ignorant on any reasons imputing to the accused or his friends an at tempt to corrupt this tribunal of judgement. The lofty and unblemished character of his counset is, in my estimation, a sufficient guaranty of the contrary. Should any circumstances be develo, ed in the progress of the trial other than those with which the public is attendy familiar, I will place you in early possession of them. I furnish you no detail of the murder, having but little of that morbid penchant for revolving displays of man's depravity.

of the murder, having but little of that holotal perchanfor revolting displays of man's depravity.

Our money matters remain pretty much as they have been for the last tew months. Our Banks are as sound as any it the country, the vaults of many containing an amount of specie greater than their whole circulation. This fact exhibits the solvency of their notes, but reveals the contraction of their business, and the lattle aid they are capable of farmishing to the community.

furnishing to the community.

The utter uncertainty of the measures the Legislature, as The utter uncertainty of the measures the Legislature, at its approaching session, may adopt for the restoration of the State's credit and the liquidation of the numerous claimagainst its Treasury, and the want of confidence in Loco-Foco legislation manifested by many who contributed to the success of Leco-Focoism in this State, by their luke-warmness and apathy, have depressed our State stocks to a point which would induce speculation in this description of funds, were not the lowness of their rates, in itself a most alarming consideration. What can be more revolting to the pride of a Pennsylvanian accustomed to boast of the resources, wealth and condition of the Old Key Stone, than the prices at which her 'promises to pay' are thrust into the sources, wealth and condition of the Old Key Stone, than the prices at which her 'promises to pay' are thrust into the market? Yesterday her Scrip, issued for the payment of back interest and claims of contractors, payabl, next year and bearing 6 per cent interest, sold at 50. You have, doubliess, seen the letters of Mr. Biddle lately published in our city papers, of the subject of our State indebtedness; of the e, I shall have something to say in a day or two.

It is runored among the knowing ones, and with a degree of positiveness scarcely admitting disbeliet, that Mr. Smith, our Whig Collector, who was appointed to do a work that the integrity and honorable feelings of Jaoathat Roberts rejected with scorn, has faited to satisfy his master, and that Gen. Geo. S. Keini, the present M. C. from the Berks District, is to be the exponent of the doctrines and practices of Tyleri-m in this city. Gen. K. is an able and gentlemanly man, possessed of great personal popularity among the citizens of his county, and well esteemed by his party throughout the State. It is said, however, that he is an aspiract for the gubernaterial honors on the expiration of Gov. Porter's term; and it is supposed he may be fearful of losing his present good chance for the nomination by accepting office under Tyler, since the demonstrations of the Globe and others of the same pack. That veritable Chronicle, "the oldest inhabitant" assures us that we have not experienced, at a similar period for many years, So great cold as the prices at which her 'promises to pay' are thrust into the oldest inhabitant" assures us that we have not expe ensed, at a similar period for many years, so great cold as that which visited us during the last iew days of N vember. Our river is becoming obstructed by ice, threatening to close the pavigation of the Delaware, especially as the snow storm which commenced this morning will materially assist in the work. Yours. CRITO.

Novel Decision .- The Boonville (Mo ) Observer says, that, at the present term of our circuit, Judge Morrow presiding, a negro slave was brought into court, charged with having forged an order on one of our merchants, and the indictment was quashed on the ground that a negro could not commit forgery. The reasons which determined this decision were not very clearly stated; but his honor was understood to say, that, by the constitution and laws of the country, negroes are not recognized as persons, any more than any other

WOMEN AND MARRIAGE. BY N. P. WILLIS.

I have speculated a great deal upon matrimony. I have seen young and beautiful women, the pride of gay circles, married, as the world says-well! Some have moved into costly houses, and their friends have all come and looked at their fine furniture and their splendid arrangements for happiness, and they have gone away and committed them to their sunny hopes cheerfully and without fear. It is natural to be sanguine for the young, and at such times I am carried away by similar feelings. I love to get unobserved into a corner, and watch the bride in her attire, and with her smiling face and her soft eyes moving before me in their pride of life weave a waking dream of her future happiness, and persuade myself that it will be true. I think how they will sit upon the luxurious sofa as the twilight falls, and build gay hopes, and murmur in low tones the now forbidden tenderness; and how thrillingly the allowed kiss, and the beautiful endearments of wedded life, will make even their parting joyous, and how gladly come back from the crowd and the empty mirth of the gay to each other's quiet com-I picture to myself that young creature, who blushes even now at his hesitating caress, listening eagerly for his footsteps as the night steals on, and wishing that he would come; and when he enters at last, and, with an affection as undying as his pulse, folds her to his bosom, I can feel the very tide that goes flowing through his heart, and gaze with him on her graceful form as she moves about him for the kind offices of affection, southing all his unquiet cares, and making im forget even himself in her young and unshadwed beauty.

I go forward for years, and see her luxuriant hair put soberly away from her brow, and her girlish graces ripen into dignity, and her bright loveliness chastened with the gentle meekness of maternal affection. Her husband looks on her with proud eye, and shows her the same fervent love and the same delicate attentions which first won her, and fair children are growing up about them, and they go on full of honor and untroubled years. and are remembered when they die!

I say I love to dream thus when I go to give e young bride joy. It is the natural tendency feeling touched by loveliness, that fears nothing or itself; and if ever I yield to darkened feelings is because the light of the picture is changed am not fond of dwelling upon such changes, and will not minutely now. I allude to it only because I trust that my simple page will be read by me of the young and beautiful beings who daily nove across my path; and I would whisper to hem, as they glide by joyously and confidently, he secret of an unclouded future.

The picture I have drawn above is not peculiar. It is colored like the fancies of the bride; and nany, oh! many an hour will she sit, with her ch jewels lying loose in her fingers, and dream uch dreams as these. She believes them tooand she goes on for a while undeceived. The eveing is not too long while they talk of plans for appiness, and the quiet meal is still a pleasant and delightful novelty of mutual reliance and atention. There comes soon, however, a time when ersonal topics become bare and wearisome, and light attentions will not alone keep up the social excitement. There are long intervals of silence, and detected symptoms of weariness; and the usband, first, in his manhood, breaks in upon the ours they were wont to spend together. I canot follow it circumstantially. There come long ours of unhappy restlessness, and terrible misivings of each other's worth and affection, till, y-and-by, they can conceal their uneasiness no nger, and go out separately to seek relief, and an upon the hollow world for the support which one who has promised to be their lover and friend, ould not give them!

Heed this, ye who are winning, by your innocent auty, the affections of high-minded and thinking eings. Remember that he will give up the broher of his heart, with whom he has had even a followship of mind, the society of his cotemporary runners in the race of fame, who have held with him a stern companionship; and frequently in his passionate love, he will break away from the arena f his burning ambition, to come and listen to the voice of the charmer." It will bewilder him at rst; but it will not long. And then, think you hat an idle blandishment will chain the mind that us been used for years, to an equal communion? Think you he will give up for a weak dalliance, he animating themes of men, and the search into ie mysteries of knowledge? Oh, no, lady! beeve me, no! Trust not your influence to such ght fetters. Credit nat the old-fashioned absurdy, that woman's is a secondary lot, ministering the necessities of her lord and master. If your mmortality is as complete, and your gift of mind as capable as ours, I would put no wisdom of mine gainst God's allotment. I would charge you to water the undying bud, and give it a healthy culare, and open its beauty to the sun; and then you nay hope that when your life is bound with anoher, you will go on equally, and in a fellowship hat will pervade every earthly interest.

ELECTRO-MAGNETIC LOCOMOTIVE .- Under the atronage of the Directors of the Edinburgh and Glasgow Railway Company, Mr. Davidson, philoophical instrument maker, has been employed in series of extensive experiments as to the practiability of applying electro-magnetism for propelng trains along the line of a railway. The experments having succeeded so far, a machine containng six powerful batteries, huge magnetic coils, and three large magnets fastened on three revolvng cylinders, through which pass the axis of the civing wheels, has been constructed; and on Satarday last its motive capabilities were tested in one of the carriage sheds belonging to the Railway Company, in presence of several of the Directors. The ponderous machine, weighing between five and six tons, was instantly set in motion on the immersion of the metallic plates into the troughs ontaining a solution of sulphuric acid. One cuious phenomenon connected with the motion of this new and ingenious instrument was the extent and brilliancy of the repeated electric flashes which accompanied the action of the machinery. The motion produced, although not rapid, was such as clearly to establish the principle that this gent is adapted to the purpose of locomotion; and it is only justice to the inventor to add, that he expressed himself sanguine as to his being able to obviate many of the difficulties which yet stand in the way of its being adopted in lieu of the steam comotives now in use. All present expressed themselves satisfied with the results of this, the first experiment on the subject on a large scale. [Edinburgh Witness.

WAR DESCRIBED BY CARLYLE .- What, speaking in quite unofficial language, is the net purport and upshot of war? To my own knowledge, for example, there dwell and toil in the British village of Dumdrudge usually some 500 souls. From these, by certain ' parural enemies' of the French, there are selected during the French War say 30 able-bodied men. Dumdrudge, at her own expense, has suckled and nursed them; she has, not without difficulty and sorrow, fed them up to manhood, and even trained them to crafts, so that one can weave, another build, another hammer, and the weakest can stand under thirty stone avoirdupois. Nevertheless, amid much weeping and swearing, they are selected, all dressed in red, and shipped away at the public charge some 2,000 miles, or say only to the South of Spain, and fed there till wanted.

And now, to that same spot in the South of Spain, are 30 similar French artizans from a French Dumdrudge, in like manner wending, till at length, after infinite effort, the two parties come into actual juxtaposition; and thirty stand fronting thirty, each with a gun in his hand. . Straightway the word "Fire' is given, and they blow the souls out of one another; and in place of sixty brisk, useful craftsmen, the world has sixty dead carcasses, which it must bury, and anew shed tears for. Had these men any quarrel? Busy as the devil is, not the smallest! They lived far enough apart, and were the entirest strangers. Nav, in so wide a universe there was even, unconsciously by commerce, some mutual helplessness between them? Simpleton! their Governors had fallen out, and, instead of shooting one another, had the cunning to make these poor blockheads " shoot,'

The Supreme Judicial Court met in this city yesterday, by adjournment, for the purpose of proceeding in the trials of the persons indicted for treason. The indictments against Franklin Cooley were first called. The Jury were present, and the counsel on the part of the State ready to proceed; but it was found that the counsel for the deendant had not filed their special pleas, and therefore the trial could not go on. The Court gave them to this morning to file their pleas, and would not consent to a farther continuance of the [Prov. Jour. case for that purpose.

DARR'S PILLS .- From Mr. Noble,

Bookseller, Boston: "Boston, August 15, 1842. "To the Proprietors of Parr's Life Pills: Gentlemen-Having heard of the extraordinary and unexpected cure of my friend Mr. Somerville, by the use of Parr's Life Pills, I applied to him for the particulars of his case, which he has kindly farnished. To his very lucid and striking statements (which I encl se) I can add nothing: they speak for themselves. But I may observe, that on his leaving Lincolnshire it was the decided impression of all his friends, both in Boston and Stamtord, where he is well known, that his recovery was entirely hopeless—in fact that he was just going home to die, his appearance every way indicating an advanced stage of consumption.

his recovery was characteristic appearance every way indicating going home to die, his appearance every way indicating an advanced stage of consumption.

"Please to send me 100 dozen boxes of Parr's Pills, small, and 20 dozen large, as my stock is again low. I perceive my saie since last August has been 18,508 boxes!

"Gentlemen, yours, faithfully. John Noble."

"Wholesale and retail Agent, Boston."

From Mr. Peter Somerville, of Helensburgh, near Edinburgh addressed to Mr. John Noble, Bookseller, Boston, burgh, addressed to Mr. John Noble, Bookseller, Boston,

Lincolnshire:

"Spring Bank Cottage, Helensburgh, Aug. 18, 1342.

"My Dear Mr. Noble: Your kind letter I duly received, and would have answered it immediately, but for a circumstance I have delayed until naw. I can assure you nothing gives me more pleasure than to bear witness to all and sundry, the real, and, I am now satisfied, the lasting good I have received from the use of rare's Life Pills. Some of withfriends observing the wonderful effects produced on me nylfriends observing the wonderful effects produced on m unylfriends observing the wonderful effects produced on me through them, urged me strongly to make my case known to encourage others afflicted with coughs, &c, to give them a trial; and I was glad to receive from you the same request, as you will be able to manage it for me. I am rather at a loss lest I should fail in giving full justice to the efficiency of these Pills over all the medicines I have tried for my complaint, and you know I have now had nearly two years' trial of medical prescriptions for my cough and liability to catch colds, without being one whit better, but I believe worse; and the last physician I consulted laughed at my ignorance when I asked him if there was nothing in physic that would operate as a preventive against taking believe worse; and the last physician I consulte a lagghed at my ignorance when I asked him if there was nothing in physic that would operate as a preventive against taking cold. He shook his head and said 'No, no; there is no such medicine.' Now, if he had been acquainted with Parr's Life Pills, he would have said, 'Yes, yes; there is such a thing;' and instead of recommended them as an effectual medicine for cough, pluerisy and spitting of blood, for that was the three-fold form of my complaint. The cough had become so troublesome that my sleep was broken by continued fits of coughing; my liability to cold and inflammation was so great that a change in the weather, or a walk, or any little exertion, would lay me up, and the usual routine of fasting, purging and bistering had to be resorted to. This I has four times in the course of two months, and then speaking aloud or reading aloud made me a great deal worse, and my strength was so far gone that any little exertion in walking or working was quite sufficient for me. Now look at the change! Before I had taken two small boxes of the Pills, my strength was so far recovcient for me. Now look at the change! Before I had taken two small boxes of the Pills, my strength was so far recovered that I commenced to work ten hours a day, and scarcely ever left wearied, and have done so for these five weeks past; and then as to there being a preventive against cold, I may just mention that the place I went to work in was a school-house, just building; the roof was on it, but as yet there were none of the windows in it, and the draught was very great, more especially as I had never before wrought under suck circumstances; yet I wrought, and am still working there without having taken c-ld that way.

"When I began to take Parr's Pills, I gave up at the same time the use of tea and coffee, which I believe helped me greatly in getting rid of my complaint. I am fully satisfied the use of tea, especially, is a very bad thing for a cough, as I always found my cough much worse after taking tea. The great good that I have derived from Parr's Pills may be summed up in a few words:

be summed up in a few words:
"First, they increased my strength; all other medicines

"First, they increased my strength; all other medicines had a weakening effect upon me but them. I take three, four, and semetimes five pills every twenty-four bours, and instead of being weakened by them, they rather in their operation revive the animal spirits and impart lasting strength to the body.

"Secondly, they go direct to the cough. I had not taken siz Pills before I felt the cough shaking; its hold upon me became looser and looser every dose I took, and the first, or it may be the second Sunday after I had begun taking them, my friends were remarking to me the great and happy change in my cough, as during the meeting I had scarcely coughed any, while previous to taking them I used to be the great disturber of the meetings by my complaint. Thirdly, they healed the spitting of blood, and changed completely the lature of the expectoration. This was pre-viously so bad that the doctors agreed from this that my longs were diseased; and the last advice I got from the doctor was, 'You must take great care of yourself, for your lungs are affected.' Now, whether my lungs are affected or not, I so not pretend to judge, but this I say, that by the use of Parr's Life Pills these two bad symptoms are re-" Fourthly, they (Parr's Pills) have restored my voice to its natural tone and strength. This all my friends were re-marking who heard me speak in the meeting the other day, marking who heard me speak in the meeting the other day, and who previously had noticed the weakness of my voice.

"Fifthly, by the use of Parr's Pills my natural color is restored. Before taking them my eyes were languid and dult, my color was low and deathlike, so much so that a lady told me last week that when she saw me about three months ago she really had little or no hopes of my recovery; whereas now my color is healthy, my eyes bright, and the same lady says I am now heginning to get fiesh on my face, the chearts of which were greatly sunk.

same lady says I am now beginning to get flesh on my face, the cheeks of which were greatly sunk.

"My dear Mr. Noble, I am afraid you will be thred reading this long letter. Other particulars I might mention, but will fleish by expressing my heartfelt thanks to the Proprietors of Parr's Life Pills, as to them under God I owe the greatest blessing but one—bodily health, the one blessing, which no medicine can bring, I trust you are continually enjoying—health to the sout, to be found only in the light of His constenance whose loving kindness is better than life. I remain most affectionately yours, not improve the property of the south of the south

A FFECTIONS OF THE LIVER.—
Every invalid should read and reflect, if they desire restoration to health.—I venture to affirm, says an eminist writer, that the grandsource of health and disease is conent writer, that the grandsource of health and disease is consected with the natural or disordered function of the liver, and that every chronic or lingering illness arises from some defect there. Ckronic Hepatitis the most frequent form of the disease in this country, is slow in its progressive stages. The organ of attack will be for years suffering under its underwoning influence, and yet no real disease will indicate to the patient the alarming state under which he is laboring; any transiest ledisposition he imputes to a different cause, never suspecting that the liver being affected is the latent source of these disturbed sensations; thus mish d, it is not in his cower to take the necessary precautions to grand against of these disturbed sensations; thus misled, it is not in his power to take the necessary precautions to guard against this insidious enemy to his repose. The symptoms of this disease are often slight and telt for a considerable time, such as fulness after meals, accompanied by oppression, a feeling of vacuity at the pitot the stomach, the mind becomes irritable, memory defective, incapacity for mental exection prevails, the appetite becomes variable, tongue exertion, mouth clammy, taste vitiated slight noise causes a start, sleep disturbed with frightful dreams, occasionally an objuse pain in the right side, extending to the top of the shoulder cramp or spasms is often experienced, and previously an objust of the start of t ob use pain in the right side, extending to the top of the shoulder, cramp or spasms is often experienced, and nervous twitching of the muscles and aching pain of the limb, nervous or sick headache is generally caused by it. It often appears in the form of cough, ashihata, &c. as diseased state of the liver, either by sympathy or pressure induces a derangement of the functions of the lungs and occasions these disorders. By changing the morbid state of the liver, the irritation of the lungs immediately gives way. The liver is indeed connection, primarily or secondarily, as cause or effect, with various diseases of the head as well as other narts of the system.

From these views, then, there can be no doubt that the disorders of the liver are of the first importance, and every effort used to remedy them should be conducted on rational principles, and by timely and efficient attention and the use of the most proper medicines, many very serious conse quences may be prevented, which too often are entailed on the constitution by procrastination.

As a remedy peculiarly adapted to the cure of liver affec-tions, Dr. Starkweather's Hepatic Elixir has proved to be he most potent and efficacious, and every day's experience confirms more positively this assertion. It is candidly be-ieved that no preparation has ever been before the public that has met with such mexampled approbation from disinguished sources, distinguished judges, and grateful pa-tients as this medicine, and a greater amount of suffering has been mitigated and more cures permanently effected by it than any other medicine extant. So confident is the proprietor of its curative properties in every case, that when the medicine is used according to his directions and the patient is not satisfied or convinced, after using one bottle, that it has produced a beneficial effect, his agents are authorised to refund the money paid for it on return of the empty bottle.
